‘Outside Voices, Informed Insight’ – Intellectual Analysis on Military Relations’

Thursday, 18 June 2020 15:00 (1h 30m)

This panel is unique in that it focuses on the applied contribution of War Studies scholars within the military domain. The panel is divided into those who discuss the historical challenges of influential thinkers, such as Bernard Fall, and the modern challenges faced by think-tankers and academics who provide insight into the most important challenges faced by NATO, the British Military, Irish Military, and United Nations. The cross-over between the historical and contemporary analysis of academic study into military issues will generate discussion about each scholar’s specific topic, but also the broader process of having meaningful ‘policy impact’.
