Old Wars, New Technologies? – Challenging and Tracing the Changing Character of War

Thursday, 18 June 2020 10:00 (1h 30m)

This interdisciplinary panel brings together scholars who focus on the history of technological innovation in war, with those who analyse contemporary and emerging military technologies. Each paper aims to highlight the impact of the technology they analyse on a given conflict and when combined the panel provides a timely reminder of how military innovations can, or cannot, alter the character of warfare.
