Learning lessons from the agenda for civilian protection by peacekeeping missions

Friday, 19 June 2020 14:30 (1h 30m)

It is now 20 years since the first mandate was issued to a UN peace support operation which included an obligation to protect civilians from physical violence. In the meantime, peacekeeping has continued to evolve, as each mission's mandate becomes more complex and deployments into hostile environments are now the norm. This panel looks at what lessons have been learned from the operationalisation of this civilian protection agenda and other developments in peacekeeping.
