Contestation of international order

Thursday, 22 June 2023 09:00 (1h 30m)

The topic of the contestation of the international order is a very prolific topic since 2012, and even more since the war in Ukraine. The international order is contested in various aspects: challenges to the interpretation and meaning of international law; contestation of political equilibrium achieved after the collapse of the USSR; contestation of social practices harmonizing interactions between actors on the international and regional scenes. This panels offers to look at how the international order is contested at the three levels of analysis used in IR theory: the world, the state, the individuals.
