British
International
Studies
Association

Contribution ID: 1321   Type: Panel

The role of social media and technology in social conflict

Friday, 23 June 2023 16:45 (1h 30m)

Social media and technology influence movements and behaviours, but also pose challenges to how we study them. This panel will examine approaches to knowledge production in human rights; virtual recruitment and digital resistance practices; the role of popular culture in extremism; how social media can be used to diminish conflict; and how social media can help us gain a better understanding of lived experiences.

Track Classification: Political Violence, Conflict and Transnational Activism