The effectiveness of implementing environment and climate agendas

Friday, 23 June 2023 15:00 (1h 30m)

The implementation of the Paris Agreement negotiated in 2015 under the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change remains a major challenge for countries. Following the submission of Nationally Determined Contributions, countries face the difficult task of implementing their commitments. What is the effect and effectiveness of different policy instruments such as carbon taxes and carbon markets? How can a circular economy be implemented? How do global south countries impact negotiations within the UN? These are some of the aspects explored by this panel.
