

Contribution ID: 1495

Type: not specified

The World of the Right: A Discussion

Thursday, 6 June 2024 15:00 (1h 30m)

The starting point for this Roundtable is the book 'World of the Right: Radical Conservatism and Global Order' (Cambridge University Press 2024). The book develops an analysis of the radical Right as a global phenomenon, and argues that its ideologues and activists have developed extensive, diverse transversal alliances and political strategies with potentially significant implications for global order. The Roundtable will discuss the book's argument and contribution, and also reflect on the challenges represented by the radical Right for the discipline of International Relations and for contemporary global politics.

Track Classification: Contemporary Research on International Political Theory Working Group