

Contribution ID: 1533

Type: not specified

Race, religion, justice and the economy in Southern Africa

Wednesday, 5 June 2024 09:00 (1h 30m)

This panel showcases some fascinating and very contemporary detailed empirical research on Southern Africa and Rwanda. Its papers explore South African foreign policy post-1994, uses post-colonial theory to examine J. M. Coetzee's Disgrace as an allegory of South Africa's 'Truth & Reconciliation Commission, cultural and creative constructions of transitional justice in post-genocide Rwanda, Pentecostalism and political femininities in Zimbabwe, and entrepreneurship in the informal economy in urban Zambia.

Track Classification: Africa and International Studies Working Group