Indigeneity and Contested Identities in Conflict and Post-Conflict Settings

Thursday, 6 June 2024 09:00 (1h 30m)

This panel examines ethnicity, conflict, and security. It explores how states employ indigenous forces in post-conflict security, paramilitary mobilisation, the targeting of civilians in counter-insurgency operations, and conflict, displacement, and gender. In doing so, the panel will draw on examples of the contested nature of identity and indigeneity in conflict and post-conflict settings.
