IPE of Finance

Friday, 20 June 2025 16:45 (1h 30m)

The proposed panel will bring together leading scholars in the field of the IPE of finance. The five papers will be presented by a mix of established and junior scholars with a particular focus on explaining how financial governance is constituted by a range of public (central banks and regulatory agencies) and private actors (organised financial interests), and the key developments, challenges and boundaries they confront. The papers will provide analysis across a range of major jurisdictions (US, Eurozone, UK, Japan), different time periods (1960s/70s, global financial crisis, Covid pandemic, and 2022 gilt crisis), and will showcase a range of methods (archival, interviews, discourse analysis).
