Contemporary Approaches to the Dynamics of Women, Peace, and Security

Wednesday, 18 June 2025 13:15 (1h 30m)

This panel will explore innovative and contemporary approaches to the Women, Peace, and Security (WPS) agenda, analyzing how gender perspectives are integrated into conflict resolution, peacekeeping, and post-conflict rebuilding. The papers will discuss emerging frameworks that prioritize women's agency and leadership in peace processes, examining case studies that reveal both challenges and successes. Key topics include the intersectionality of gender with other social identities, the role of grassroots movements in shaping WPS policies, and the impact of global governance structures on local realities.
