Governing Agriculture and Agrarian Transformations

Thursday 4 June 2026 10:45 (1h 30m)

This panel examines how in the context of a warming world agricultural governance reshapes power, accountability, and everyday practices across diverse agrarian settings. Bringing together research on gender-inclusive governance, dairy–climate regimes, critiques of climate-smart agriculture, and environmental compliance in frontier commodity systems, the papers highlight how climate interventions work across existing inequalities and regulatory contexts.
