What do we know about Conflict? Interrogating Representations of War and Security

Tuesday, 22 June 2021 18:00 (1h 30m)

This panel brings together researchers examining the politics of how conflict (broadly conceived) is understood and represented. Drawing from a range of theoretical traditions and engaging with diverse cases and resources, the panellists are united by their drive to produce new and innovative ways of interrogating the politics of knowledge around war and security.
